

Zuleika Johnson, MPA

Zuleika is the Founder and CEO of Luna Philanthropy, LLC, an equity-focused consulting company that helps organizations recognize and grow philanthropy in communities of color. She also serves as the Associate Director of Development at University of Colorado Colorado Springs. In her position, she builds support for campus wide scholarships and diversity, equity and inclusion efforts.

A Bronx, New York native who has made Colorado her home, she brings more than 10 years of professional experience in the nonprofit sector including experience in fundraising and diversity programming.

Zuleika began her non-profit career in New York City where she worked to support homeless families and raised funds for a cancer center and a girls' mentoring program. Upon moving to Colorado, she worked with non-profits in Colorado Springs helping to expand their volunteer programs as well as corporate and individual donor initiatives. In her last role, she served as the Vice President of Opportunity and Outreach at El Pomar Foundation where she directed the Elevating Leadership Development program to cultivate and support leaders of color in Southern Colorado.

Zuleika earned her bachelor's degree in Economics and Gender Women's Studies from Connecticut College. She also received her master's in Public Administration from The City College of New York and in Business Administration from Colorado Technical University.
